Serving at Stewpot: 14-17, from 11:00am—12:45pm. Contact Ton or Carol Rietvelt for questions or to let them know if you can help.

Meadowbrook Preschool: You're invited to a PreK-3 and PreK-4 Sneak Peek to see what we are doing and learning! Tuesday, November 15, from 9 to 10AM upstairs in Mrs. Trace's music room.

When You Saw Me Hungry—Our Christmas Project this year. May I suggest an excellent read on the story of Health Talents International, a ministry Meadowbrook has been involved with for many years. Mud On Your OWN Boots by Marie Bryant Agee can be found on Amazon. Several of our own members are mentioned and how they have been the true meaning of the Hands and Feet of Jesus. It will encourage each of us to participate in the Christmas Project being led by Cindi Latson and Teresa Monaghan.

Sunday, November 13: Bible Class "Roots: Solitude"

Thanksgiving Meal Service Opportunity

Thank You

Dear Meadowbrook Church, thank you so very much for the two gorgeous flower arrangements placed in the church building for Bill's service. They were so beautiful that seeing them for the first time just took my breath away! You were there for us ALWAYS. The meal provided after the service was so delicious and appreciated by the family. Thanks for visits, being sitters, additional food, and lifting us up at the Service.

Claudia Nisbett,

John and Amy D. and family, Amy and Clint Emerson and family.

In 1980, three nurses from Meadowbrook, Ellie Evans, Diane Nelson, and Wanda Miles were getting rid of everything they owned to go on the first trip to Guatemala and work. Diane had a small plant that was knee-high to a grasshopper and she gave it to Meadowbrook before leaving.

After thirty-two years and the care and attention from our Green Thumb Ministry, led by Susan Kellum, the little plant is in the education building by the preschool entry hall and it can almost say hello to the children upstairs! It loves it here, and the Green Thumb Ministry! I do believe I heard it say thank you.

We all say thank you to Susan Kellum and Maxine Crawford for working so diligently this week planting and trimming some plants on the campus.
